

October 2016

“As always, the di Grésy Barbarescos are perfumed and at times deceptively light in body. Even so, in the best vintages the wine can age quite gracefully.”

95 2011 Marchesi di Grésy Riserva

Points Camp Gros Martinenga DOCG

The flagship 2011 Barbaresco Riserva Camp Gros Martinenga is soft, supple and gracious, but much of that is the personality of the vintage. This is one of the most open-knit and easy to appreciate vintages of Camp Gros I can remember tasting. Beams of supporting tannin and salinity give the wine its distinctive personality. Scents of pine, menthol, rose petal and quinine give the wine its soaring, penetrating aromatics. Above all else, the 2011 is classy, subtle and polished. The 2011 spent 30 days on the skins and was aged in a combination of 60% barrique and 40% cask.
