87 2015 La Valentina Auha' Fiano
Points Colline Pescaresi IGT

Bright yellow with a green tinge. Exotic aromas of pear, tropical fruits, balsamic nuances and menthol. Almost fat on entry, then slightly blurry in the middle. Finishes ripe and broad, with a tactile mouthfeel on the medium-long finish. Not bad but a bit warm and loose-knit and nothing at all like the Fiano wines of Campania; actually rather more like some Puglian Fiano wines I have tried over the years.
