

25 Best Producers of Barolo

Tom Hyland

Having traveled to the Barolo production zone since 2001...it has become a major passion for me, and is a focal point of my wine studies. I've tasted more than 3000 different examples of Barolo over the past ten years and have written more than a dozen articles on these wines, as well as a book on the wines and foods of the region. Thus my list of the best Barolo producers. I could write about 100 different companies, but that would be better suited to a book on the subject.

Vietti (Castiglione Falletto)-

Vietti was among the first wineries to produce a single vineyard Barolo - Rocche from the 1961 vintage - and today, the winery makes as many as four cru Barolo per year, in addition to a splendid riserva from the Villero vineyard in exceptional vintages, as well as a classic Barolo named Castiglione, that is an outstanding value. Luca Currado, one of the most charming people you will ever meet, learned the fundamental nature of Barolo from his father Alfredo, and today, he has elevated Vietti to the category of outstanding Barolo producers
