Showing a light pink color with raspberry and copper highlights, the Tenuta Tascante 2020 Etna Rosato Tefra is a new wine from the Tasca family of Sicily's leading winery, Tasca Conti d'Almerita. Rosé wines can sometimes feel indistinguishable one from another, but not this bottle from Etna. Volcanic growing conditions add an especially bright and cooling effect to the wine, with pronounced focus and linear, mineral tones. The fruit is downplayed and elegant with white cherry, grapefruit and cassis. I also love that hint of glossy latex or natural rubber that translates to the wine's mid-weight texture. About 7,000 bottles were released.
