The 2019 Pinot Grigio Porer is tropical yet spicy and wickedly fresh, bursting up from the glass with crushed stone and hints of exotic curries before evolving to display lime-tinged mango and nectarine. It's round yet decidedly savory and mineral, as white pit fruits cascade across the palate under an air of pretty inner florals. Nuances of peach and yellow citrus linger through the medium-length yet clean finale. There's a whole lot of character packed into the 2019 Porer.
