The muscular 2015, with what has become the modern blend of Cabernet Sauvignon (40%), Syrah (35%) and Merlot, is tightly wound even at eight years of age. Like the 2006, this youthful beauty reveals its glories slowly as it sits in the glass. Suave and glossy tannins enrobe its tar-like mineral qualities. An intriguing meatiness the Syrah speaking emerges with time. Its balance suggests this 2015 has a beautiful future. That said, those who enjoy wines at a more youthful stage of their evolution can enjoy it now if you decant it and savor during a meal.
