Sciaranuova was planted in 2008 on deep, layered soils featuring volcanic sands, basalt and pumice, giving the most structured and age-worthy wines of the three vineyard sites. The winemaking here is slightly different: 70% of the wine is aged in 25hl Slavonian oak barrels, with the remaining 30% aging in 300-litre French oak barrels. Expect the same minerality, crisp acidity and fragrance, with a generosity of elegant red fruits and spice. This has at least a decade ahead of it. Drinking Window 2019 - 2030
