Dark and rich in the glass, the 2022 Rosso di Montalcino reminds me of Christmas day, as allspice and clove come together with dark chocolate and rum-soaked cherries. This follows suit on the palate, velvety and polished with masses of ripe red and blue fruits, all guided by juicy acidity. The 2022 is powerful and dense yet still fresh with cocoa and brown spice notes. The Siro Pacenti style isn't for everyone, yet there's no denying the quality in the bottle.
