The 2017 Barolo Riserva emerges from an east-facing site in Serralunga and was done with 60% stems. Dark red-toned fruit, leather, tobacco and dried herbs are all framed by insistent Serralunga tannins. Initially, this wine was conceived as a Riserva from the Barolo Castiglione program that focused on a single site and some of the more experimental approaches Vietti was trialing at the time. Today, with the significant growth of the range in all directions, it's harder to see where this fits.
