VINEPAIR

Disaronno may be the biggest name in amaretto, but this expression from Italy's Distilleria dell'Alpe makes for a more balanced alternative with a less awkward bottle design. Crafted with Sicilian sweet and bitter almonds, grapefruit, Calabrian orange peels, and fresh Alpine water, this amaretto comes out swinging with silky aromas of marzipan, strawberry licorice, and citrus pith. The palate adds a dose of vanilla, resulting in a smooth digestif that is both more complex and less sweet than most other amarettos.
