The SCAIA Rosé is a pale peachy version of the grape Rondinella, more often found in the richly textured red wines of Valpolicella. But here, picked early, it ends up fresh, lean and herbal. Pale peachy pink in color, this wine smells of watermelon, crabapples, and unripe strawberries. In the mouth, crisp green strawberries and watermelon rind flavors have a faint bitterness to them as orange peel acidity keeps things bright and fresh. Crisp and lean, with a hint of bitterness in the finish.
