WINE STORY

Though rightly considered a Barolo expert, Vietti produces top-quality wines from all over southern Piedmont, including Barolo's friendly rival Barbaresco. This wine is from the single vineyard Roncaglie in the Barbaresco denomination. Roncaglie comes from the Latin word roncaleis, which was the name of a former Roman settlement and means "steep road." Besides being excellent in its own right, Vietti Barbaresco presents an extraordinary opportunity to taste this wine alongside a single-vineyard Barolo produced by the same winery under similar conditions in order to experience the two great Nebbiolo denominations with as few variables as possible. Previous to 2018, this wine was just called Masseria. With the 2020 vintage the word Masseria was removed from the label.
